SANTA FE PROMISES EXCELLENT TREAT

Clithero Company Will Appear Here Next Sunday Night: Opera House to Be Open to Public.

The next entertainment scheduled by the Santa Fe reading room service for production in Albuquerque will take place on next Sunday night. May 7. The Clithero Concert company whose members were recently in Albuquerque on their way east to begin the entertainments, will appear on that date because it was impossible to arrange a stop at time when the Elks Club could be had at any other time. It is not intended by the management to have performances exclusively on Sunday, but rather than sacrifice the opportunity to hear the Clithero company Sunday was selected as the date for showing them.

The personnel of the company includes a rare combination of talent who will present an evening of well diversified entertainment. The Clithero-Engleman-Wood Brown combination, Sadie Stanley Clithero, pianist, Elsie Brown, reader, Pauline Engleman, violinist, Bessie Engleman, contralto soloist, Hester Wood, violinist, Margaret Wood, pianist and reader, Luis Wood, violinist.

Superintendent S. Busser of the reading room service speaks of them in terms of unqualified praise, and indeed a further announcement than that they appear under his direction is scarcely needed to convince Albuquerque audiences of their merit. He says:

"The manager, Mrs. Clithero, has given much time to the organization of this company. As a pianist she has no equal in the interior. She has wonnowed the best talent and professionals till she has all stars. Her brother is one of our trusted and tried officials in the operating department and she knows that Santa Fe employees can appreciate high grade music."

Together these ladies will give orchestral numbers of most exquisite execution and from the master works only the large cities could command this service.

The readers in this column are not clowns but actresses and impersonators. They "put on" literature and reproduce scenes and characters. It is indeed a very rare combination of talent and it will be worth a long journey to hear them and be fitted to higher ideals by people who have made a success of their life's work."
